

BLACKOUT POETRY CHALLENGE

Craft a blackout poem centered on the theme of social justice—using only the words from a page of text you’ve already read or connected with deeply.

Choose a page and blackout the words you don’t need to reveal the message that matters most.

This is more than a poetry exercise—it’s a form of resistance, reflection, and reimagining. You’re not just creating a poem; you’re uncovering a hidden truth, turning the original into something bold, personal, and unexpectedly powerful.
